Dear Robert

I have today received your letter dated 1st January 2013 with attachments.

I can confirm the following:

1. This 'article' was not published in The Son or any other title which we publish.
2. I have been responsible for publication of The Son since March 2009 and we have never published any articles about you at any point.
3. As far as I am aware we have not been contacted about you by any organisation whatsoever, including those you mention.
4. We would be happy to provide either hard copies or digital copies of all editions published since March 2009, subject to you agreeing to cover the costs involved.

The 'article' appears to me to be a very poor fabrication.

I hope this clarifies the matter.

Regards
